TO: PRINCES DIANA BAGRATIONI FOUNDATION

Dear ladies and gentlemen,

On behalf of The New Review, Inc. and The New Review magazine, I would like to thank the Diana Bagrationi Foundation for continued generous support of the Russian Documentary Film Festival in New York – RusDocFilmfest-3W. The Foundation’s assistance as a partner of our corporation in the festival’s organizing programs in 2015 and as one of the sponsors of the project gives us an opportunity to continue the traditions of Russian documentary film festivals abroad. With this partnership we were able to screen 21 documentaries made by film-directors from Russia, Belarus, Israel, Lithuania, and USA. Among these documentaries 18 American premieres took place at Anthology Film Archives, DCTV and Brooklyn Public Library in 2015. With support of your Foundation The New Review, Inc. organized several special programs among them - “Remembering the Holocaust in the XXI century”, “In the Beginning was the Word” devoted to the Russian literature, social program “Free World;” organized the first public competition of short “snippet” films “My Wonderful World!” as well as the radio “pop-quiz” program about history of our festival at the Davidson Radio Station.

We especially would like to express our gratitude to Mrs. Diana Bagrationi whose enthusiasm and generosity give us opportunities to combine our efforts on this project.

During the last eight years, The New Review, Inc. and Princes Diana Bagrationi Foundation have established close creative ties. We hope that our cooperation on the project of the RusDocFilmfest-3W will be continued in the future.

Once again, we would like to express our gratitude for your support in organizing the Eighth Russian Documentary Film Festival in 2015.

With utmost regard,

Marina Adamovitch
Curator of the RDFF,
